AGENCY HISTORY

On May 21, 1965, the Hillsborough County Community Action Program was chartered in the State of New Hampshire to serve the City of Nashua and the twenty-nine towns in Hillsborough County, in accordance with the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. In 1969 the organization became the Community Action Agency for the City of Manchester as well, which meant that its service area included all of Hillsborough County. The agency's name was officially changed to Southern New Hampshire Services, Inc. in 1974.

SNHS was one of six such Community Action Agencies established in New Hampshire under the Economic Opportunity Act. The geographic area served by SNHS was increased through a merger with Rockingham Community Action on July 1, 2011.

As a result of this merger SNHS now provides services to residents of all 65 towns and 3 cities in Hillsborough and Rockingham Counties, which includes almost half of the state's population. The combining of both agencies' resources and program experience has resulted in a more comprehensive and effective service delivery system to assist low-income residents in the larger service area.

More than 60 programs are available to low-income individuals and families throughout the two counties at 10 Outreach Offices, 4 Field Sites, and 17 Child Development Centers. There are also 2 Supportive Housing sites for homeless individuals (in Manchester and Nashua), and 29 Elderly Housing sites throughout the state. Finally, Economic and Workforce Development staff are co-located with partners throughout the state. SNHS is well-positioned to provide advocacy and assistance for low-income residents for many years to come.
